Local Pest Control Company Joins Elite Group of Professionals
Environmental Health Services, Inc., now a SENTRICON® System authorized company

NORWOOD, Mass. — February 2009— Environmental Health Services, Inc. (EHS), recently joined a select group of pest management companies authorized to provide consumers with the No. 1 brand in termite protection<sup>1</sup> — the SENTRICON® Termite Colony Elimination System.

“Providing quality products and superb service are the two most important things to our company,” says Dave Maurer, marketing specialist for Dow AgroSciences, manufacturer of the SENTRICON System. “EHS shares our commitment to those standards.”

To become certified as an Authorized Operator of the SENTRICON System, a qualifying company is required to complete comprehensive and ongoing training, use state-of-the-art data management and gathering tools, and pass annual quality reviews.

The SENTRICON System is an award-winning baiting system that detects and stops subterranean termites from attacking homes by eliminating termite colonies — not just individual termites. The product’s design allows termite infestations to be eliminated without disturbing expensive landscaping, or drilling holes into a home’s floors, foundation, patios or sidewalks.

“Environmental Health Services, Inc., was founded on a commitment to not only provide effective and state-of-the-art pest management solutions for customers, but also to be stewards of the environment,” says George Williams Jr. A.C.E., General Manager – Entomologist of EHS. “The proven effectiveness and ‘green’ design of the SENTRICON System makes it a perfect fit with our mission.”

Maurer says the Sentricon System is the only termite control product ever to receive the Presidential Green Chemistry Challenge Award, which recognizes technical innovation that incorporates the principles of green chemistry into design, manufacture and use.

Active in the pest management industry and its community, EHS is a Quality Pro Green certified company. This is the mark of green initiative excellence within the pest management industry.
